

KLove is a very important radio station to many of us. There music is inspirational and its my way of praising God. Its the first thing I listen to in the morning to get my day started right. For many young teens and men and women in their 20's praising God is a hard thing to do, especially when its something new to them. This radio station draws in people of my age. I'm 22 and beginning to grow in my faith. KLove helps many of us to keep growing. The community needs this radio station, especially those that are finding God.
